My expertise is in Translation and Spanish Language teaching (PhD and MA in Translation Studies and DPSI from CloL), which places me in an ideal position to champion the principles of UCML and further the role of T&I in Language Learning. I am an Assistant Professor and teach and coordinate both UG and PG Translation modules. I regularly liaise with the CloL, attend conferences organised by IATIS and ITI and represent Durham in the EMT. I have published articles on Translation Theory, Translator training and pedagogy, and Language Teaching. I am the convener of Durham's Translation and Linguistics Research Group, the Northern Bridge contact for T&I, a member of Durham's Centre for Intercultural Mediation and have been the External examiner for the MA in Translation Studies at Auckland University (NZ). I have experience in liaising and collaborating with both educational and non- educational institutions in the UK and abroad to promote languages (running CPD programmes, sharing good practice events, etc.).
